Nothing about the castle's spooky residents suggests this will be easy: the oddly sinister butler, the inept handy man and the cook who rattles on about mysterious dangers. Or the Vicar, who warns them of dark forces guarding a precious secret.

Andrew, with Paula's help, overcomes fears and obstacles as you advance the action by solving puzzles and gathering clues to prepare you for the ultimate encounter.

SERIOUS FUN FOR THE marginally mature.

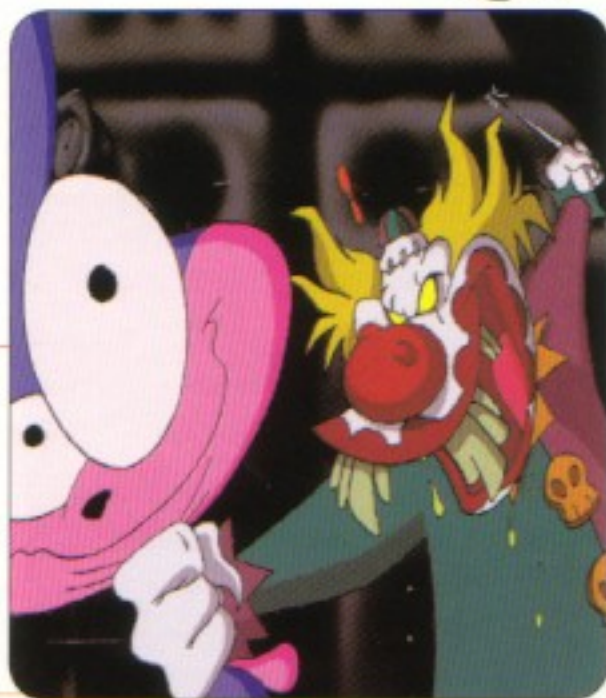

"A must-see."

COMPUTER GAME REVIEW

"A delightfully twisted and highly original adventure...that capitalizes on today's cutting edge technology."

DIMENSION 3 MAGAZINE

We let our top designers out of their padded cells just long enough to create Toonstruck, an over-the-top, in-your-face, hand-me-that-sedative cartoon adventure game starring BACK TO THE FUTURE's Christopher Lloyd as animator Drew Blanc. Tim Curry (ROCKY HORROR PICTURE SHOW) as the voice of evil Count Hefarious. And then there's Flux Wildly (voiced by Dan Castellaneta, TV's HOMER SIMPSON), a sarcastic, flatulent, purple...thingy.

Watch Spike the Clown torture balloon animal sculptures. Challenge "Fingers" the octopus (Dom deLuise) at the arcade. Watch Seedy, the tutu-clad bartender, do some "butt bowling." And while you're at it, prevent an all-out war between the cartoon forces of good and evil.

Toonstruck blends live action with wild animation for some of the most bizarre and challenging puzzle-based gameplay ever. So go ahead. Send someone an exploding turkey. Seduce a chicken. Flush fish.

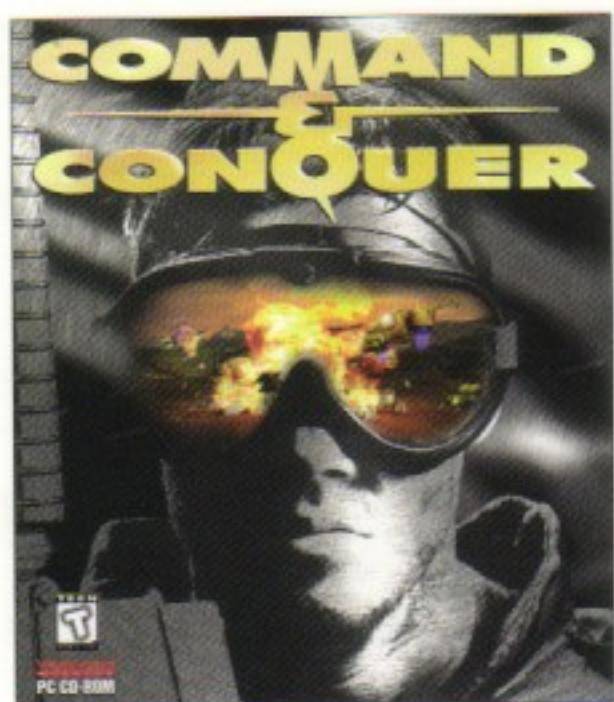

Toonstruck is dark, weird, and has more twists and turns than your lower intestine. Remember, if you loved the warmth and wonder of The Lion King™, stay the hell away from this one.

Fifty-fifty chance they're taking potshots at pond-fish or taking each other out with friendly fire.
