HAVE YOU SEEN THESE 2 GUYS?

2 GUYS FROM ANDROMEDA

SOFTWARE AUTHORS PIRATED??

The Two Guys from Andromeda, designers of the graphically extravagant (and satirically sensational) Space Quest series, have disappeared into thin oxygen! Hysterical game fanatics around the world await word on the whereabouts of these celestial celebrities!

Who could be the mastermind behind this evil plot?

Could it be the Pirates of Pestulon, known for their plundering, preying and unprincipled practices? Or maybe the legions of Space Quest fans who would kill to be the first to play Space Quest III (the graphic adventure game with the closest thing yet to motion picture-quality animation). Not to be forgotten are the monkey-suited minions of Sludge Vohaul (from our last episode), who would love to make banana pudding out of those responsible for putting them behind bars.

Who are the dirty deed doers behind our daring duo's demise? Is it too late to save the two guys from a disgusting and downright despicable doom?

Holy SpaceWaste, space adventurers, find out for yourself as Roger Wilco, intergalactic garbageman, returns to the rescue!

FEATURES

- Superior graphics and animation combine to create a true interactive cartoon where you become the central character.
- Includes an original musical score (over 30 minutes long) created by rock 'n roll legend Supertramp's Bob Siebenberg.

Completion of Space Quest 1 and/or 2 is not necessary, although Mark and Scott would appreciate the business!

Blast off and feed your face at the Monolith.

There are many places to explore, some will be hospitable...others will hospitalize you.

Arnold the Annihilator is knocking on your air lock...and he's not here to sell life insurance (although you could use some about now).

Become part of an intergalactic scavenger hunt, and you're it!
